(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
El Paso, Tex., Aug. 15.—The state fair boosting party which is now on a tour of the southern tier of states in the interest of the fair, show which is to be held in Albuquerque, spent today in El Paso taking a rest and getting things lined up for the work that lies before them during the coming week in the counties yet to be visited by the party.

The party, which left El Paso yesterday afternoon after a most successful meeting with the county commissioners of El Paso county, who appropriated $500 for an exhibit of the county's resources at the fair.

Everywhere the boosters have been during the week past they have been accorded the most cheerful and courteous treatment and have invariably left the people whom they met with a renewed purpose and enthusiasm for the task before them.

Men Who Have Helped.

The tremendous energy and earnestness of Chief Putney has been the chief factor in the unbroken string of victories that have been won by the party in each of the counties that the party has visited.

In the Pecos valley, District Attorney E. K. Scott has been a tower of strength to the boosters. Mr. Scott is a whirlwind of energy not unlike Mr. Putney, and when he gets his heart set on an object he never lets up until that object is attained.

Mr. Scott is an expert on things that go to make a success of a fair, such as the breeding of livestock and the raising of the highest grade agricultural products.

County Treasurer James A. Baird, affectionately known to his many friends as "Uncle Jim," Editor C. W. Egan, of the El Paso County News, Otto Tinkler, secretary of the Commercial club, and Guthrie Smith were the chief aids of the boosting party in Alamogordo.

by the state fair commission for general state fair purposes, and it has been necessary first to make it clear that the fair management is not seeking for a cent and that the appropriation requested is to be expended by a local committee solely in the interest of the county and its exhibit.

Seeing the Country.

Mr. Putney, Mr. Macpherson and Mr. McIntire have decided that rail-roads trains are good enough for them as a means of transportation for a while and that automobile travel for long distances is not all that it is cracked up to be.

The party finished up its work in Carrizozo Friday by 10 o'clock in the morning, and were ready to go on to Alamogordo. There was a perfectly good Rock Island train to leave at 11 o'clock which would have put them in Alamogordo early in the afternoon.

They saw it. Also, they thought quite a bit of it along with them. About twenty miles out of Carrizozo they struck a stretch of two miles of sand which they are convinced goes straight down to the center of the earth.

They saw it. Also, they thought quite a bit of it along with them. About twenty miles out of Carrizozo they struck a stretch of two miles of sand which they are convinced goes straight down to the center of the earth.

Then, just at the end of the journey, the tourists were passing the little village of La Luz, the rain descended and the floods came and drenched the road and the members of the party, necessitating the putting on of chains and the hauling out of the car.

Through the courtesy of Miss Zeller, the newly elected matron of the New Mexico School for the Blind, Messrs. Putney, Macpherson and McIntire were shown over the school during their stay in Alamogordo.

The school is not now in session, and Superintendent R. R. Pratt is off on his vacation, but through Miss Zeller's explanation it was possible to obtain a most interesting view of the school.

Two pretty brick buildings situated in the midst of a beautiful park comprise the plant of the institution. When Superintendent Pratt took charge of the school six years ago there was not a tree on it and no attention had been paid to beautifying the grounds.

The school accommodates forty-seven pupils, which is its full capacity, and this is less than half the number of children in New Mexico who are blind or partially blind.

General Manager Gifford is not a believer in child labor legislation and, on the other hand, thinks the children should be allowed to go to work early in the morning and late in the afternoon.

The morning papers point out that Austria meanwhile is gathering troops on the Danube and that German armies are advancing openly an advance to the Aegean sea.

Austrian King for Poland.
London, Aug. 16 (2:59 a. m.)—The coronation of Archduke Charles Stephen of Austria as king of Poland will take place in the Warsaw cathedral according to the Times' Petrograd correspondent, who adds that a proclamation naming the new king in the authority of Germany and Austria, is expected to be issued shortly.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
Chicago, Aug. 15.—The report of George E. West and C. T. Chumley, who investigated the strike at Standard Oil company's plant at Dayone, N. J., for the United States commission on industrial relations, was made public tonight by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission.

The report, which is a study of the strike was against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

The company is the most important of the Standard Oil group, and this group is the principal contributor to the wealth, power and prestige of the Standard Oil empire.

Findings of Alleged Facts.

The Standard Oil company of New Jersey, although conducting an enormously profitable enterprise, pays wages so low to maintain a family on a comfortable, comfortable basis.

The company has instituted no machinery by which real or fancied grievances may be promptly and promptly adjusted.

The report then recites that the company employed a detective agency of New York City to furnish guards and breakers for the plant.

Strike Broken by Sheriff.

The strike was broken by Sheriff Eugene Kinkead, the report added, who first overpowered and disorganized the strikers by assembling and arresting one of their leaders and then strengthened his control over them by promising to use his influence to obtain an increase in wages and by arresting thirty of the armed strikers.

accompanied it. It accused the Standard Oil company of urging the Dayone police to keep strikers off the streets and asserted that the attempt to do so caused the strike on July 23. The arrival of strike breakers from New York City on July 23, was claimed in the report for a conflict between the police and strikers and was stated further that a certain local police officer Sheriff Kinkead to send deputies to Dayone.

1,500 ST. LOUIS STRIKERS
READY TO RESUME WORK

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
St. Louis, Aug. 15.—The strike of 1,500 transfer company teamsters and chauffeurs which began here Friday was settled tonight. The men were granted a general wage increase of fifty cents a week, a reduction of about one hour in the working day and better working conditions.

The settlement was brought about by Father Timothy Dempsey, a Catholic priest, who induced leaders of both sides to agree to a truce.

Boston, Aug. 15.—The assembling today of 1,300 reservists, who were to sail on the steamer Canopic tonight, and their friends, was marked by demonstrations against the interned German prisoners of war.

The body of reservists, said to be the largest to leave this country on any ship since the war began, was made up of Italians from New England.

Summary of War
News of Yesterday

All along the line of the eastern front in northwest Russia and Poland the German armies, according to Berlin, again are in full swing against the Russians, who everywhere have been driven back or repulsed in attempts at sorties or to make stands.

On the Austro-Italian front no decided gains for either side are chronicled.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
Washington, Aug. 15.—The state department tonight made public the reply of the United States to the Austrian note of complaint in a recent note containing that exportation of war munitions from America to Austria's enemies was conducted on such a scale as to be "in consonance with the definition of neutrality."

Through friendly in tone the note flatly denies the Austro-Hungarian contention and recites that the United States and Germany furnished munitions of war to Great Britain during the Boer war, when England's enemies could not import such supplies.

Text of American Note.

The following is the full text of the note:

Position Is Difficult.

Denies Contentions.

On the novel principle that equalization is a neutral duty, neutral nations would be obligated to place of embargo on such articles because one of the belligerents could not obtain them through commercial intercourse.

Belgrade was occupied by the Austrians after a siege on December 2, 1914, but was re-occupied by the Serbians twelve days later, following a three-day battle. The capture of Belgrade by the Serbians was followed by a campaign which cleared their country of invaders. Until a few days ago the Austrians made no further attempts to crush the small neighbor and the intervening time has been occupied by the Serbians in reorganizing their forces.

to belligerents. Never during that period did either of them suggest or apply the principle now advocated by the imperial and royal governments.

Cites Boer War Precedent.

During the Boer war between Great Britain and the South African republics, the patrol of the coast of neighboring neutral colonies by British naval vessels prevented arms and ammunition reaching the Transvaal or the Orange Free State. The allied republics were in a situation almost identical in that respect with that in which Austria-Hungary and Germany find themselves at the present time.

Principle of Neutrality.

It might be further pointed out that during the Boer war large quantities of arms and military stores were furnished to Russia by Prussian manufacturers; that during the recent war a lack of neutrality in commerce was proved, arms and ammunition were furnished to the Ottoman government by Germany, and that during the Balkan war the belligerents were supplied with munitions by both Austria-Hungary and Germany.

Practical Reason Also.

But in addition to the question of principle there is a practical consideration. The United States has from the foundation of the republic to the present time, advocated and practiced unrestricted trade in arms and military supplies.

Policy of Self-Defense.

A nation whose principle and policy it is to rely upon international obligations and international justice to preserve its peace and to prevent an aggressive nation whose policy and practice it is to increase its military strength during times of peace with the design of conquest, unless it be attacked, cannot after war has been declared, go into the markets of the world and purchase the means to defend itself against the aggressor.
